SUBJECT: Institute on Expanded Learning: Opportunities for Student Success

The New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE), in partnership with the New Jersey School Age Care Coalition, New Jersey’s Statewide Afterschool Network, and the New Jersey Principals and Supervisors Association, is pleased to announce that registration is open for the Institute on Expanded Learning: Opportunities for Student Success. This one-day event will be held on November 20, 2014 at Princeton Marriott Hotel and Conference Center at Forrestal, 100 College Road East, Princeton, NJ.

Please join us as we discuss how high-quality expanded learning opportunities, such as afterschool and summer learning, can have a positive impact on student attendance, behavior and coursework. Keynote speaker, Dr. Terry Peterson, director of the Afterschool and Community Learning Network and former chief education advisor to the U.S. Secretary of Education, will discuss strategies for school leaders to implement research-based practices that:

- Use out-of-school time differently to make positive impacts on students;
- Align out-of-school-time activities with the school day;
- Effectively engage community partners; and
- Utilize available funding to support expanded learning programs.

Registration is open to all public and nonpublic school leaders and may be accessed at www.njsacc.org. The $149 registration fee includes materials and lunch.
